Annotation: In this article, Tursinoy's inner experiences in the story "Why the Sun Rises" by Zulfiya Kurulbay's daughter, who won the hearts of everyone with her wonderful and educational stories at a young age, are analyzed in a wide range, and why her interest in life died.

Key words: Tursunoy, dead, debt life.

When Allah bestows life on human beings or animals in nature, we are the giver and receiver. No one stays forever in the bright world, we are all guests, some of us are early, some of us are late, we go to our destination whether we want to or not. It is enough to be remembered with a good name after we are gone. It is important that we leave a garden, not a stain. We need to protect the deposit made in our body until the giver takes this life. After all, if we knowingly injure our body, we will commit a deep sin and will be deprived of our Paradise. One of the young representatives of Uzbek story-telling, Zulfiya Kurulbay, also touched upon the above topic. Adiba was born in 1989 in Jizzakh District, Jizzakh Region. She is one of the sharpest writers known to the people with a number of stories and novels. Mainly, it is written about the character of Tursunoy, who surprised everyone with his deep thoughts, but who tried to commit suicide several times due to the sudden death of his brother and the dreams that were running around in his head. These actions put his parents and relatives in danger. One says that it is wrong, and the other diagnoses that the ghosts of those who were saints in our generation are not alive.¹

What do you think caused Tursunoy to become this situation? Once, when he was about to hang himself, while looking at the rope, his father Abdulhamid became blind and took his daughter out of his mouth. In the second one, her daughter, who was in a good mood just yesterday and has just returned to school, takes medicine. After that, no one will talk to him too much. No one wants to be the cause of a girl's death. Even after taking medicine, he did not achieve his goal. The doctors washed his stomach and sent him back home. Our daughter Tursunoy, with blue eyes, dry lips, and a face as white as a gauze, is constantly asking for her friend as soon as she opens her eyes. The father of the village knocks on his friend's door early after the call to prayer saying that he is ashamed. Because if he tells her something and sees his daughter happy again, there is no greater happiness for parents than to see their children mature. It is not necessary to say that this father, who feels pity for his daughter, shed tears of joy in front of the people of the country. He can do anything, even if Tursunoy breaks an object and shoots it, if it breaks an animal and chases it out of the door.

It is unclear to us how Tursinoy will respond to these actions in the hereafter, just as blood cannot be washed away with blood, but blood can be washed away with water. When she heard that she had taken medicine, her mother said to her friend, who jumped up from her sleeping place, "Be careful with your tongue, don't make another mistake, let's get away from Tursunoy...". Even her parents were in awe of her daughter. His biggest mistake was that he should not let it go, even if he lies that he is needed by the family and the society, since he first saw such a situation. The situation led to the fact that the girl was struggling with the traumas of her teenage years and ended up committing suicide. Moreover, being left alone at a time when he needed his loved ones had a negative effect on his mind, and he began to come to the conclusion that I don't need this debt and I need to pay it back. In this it's wrong to blame only one girl It is obvious to all of us that parents make mistakes too. Because he just ran away and ignored them, as if he thought that they were doing this right. The transition from childhood to adolescence is difficult for some. Then parents are required to show their skills. He should talk well without putting pressure on him. A mother should be a friend to her daughter and a father should be a friend to his son. It is necessary to look for the problem of the child's vision immediately and remove it very gently, as if removing wool from dough. Tursunoy's parents did the opposite. It's true that you can't put all the blame on them, but wasn't it a lesson that he lost his five children? So they say that if we ask a question about something they are afraid of, or if we are interested, they will repeat the same situation again. Why is the artist doing this? The reason was that the unexpected death of his beloved brother affected his soul. It is not easy for the parents who left their five children in the ground. It is not easy to bear the burden of such a separation. As if that was not enough, it is natural that we have to say that these actions of their daughter have ended the mother's life. These words, which sound bad to the ears when heard, make the person who hears it shiver. Trying to get high and taking forty pills is a crazy process.

Are you saying that no one gives you the right direction or advice? Where his friend did not say much. And he stared at one point and looked hopelessly at life like a fish drowning in the sea. "Do you know that one of my uncles died after falling off a donkey? It's an incredible event from a donkey, isn't it?!" God has shown proof that you can't die even if you take 40,000 medicines until you reach the end of your allotted life, but if you say that you didn't think about your parents, you talked to the wall in vain and you didn't talk.²

it's hard for his friend who is burning his soul These words did not even affect him." My parents did not give me life, they shared a means for me to come into the world, he gave me life. I wanted to return what was given to me to its rightful owner. What will I do in a world where my brother cannot fit in. It is natural that we feel bitter about Tursunoy's words. Look at what she said about being an older girl, with a higher education, being kind to young people, one day she will die, be forgotten, she can collect her imagination and push herself, she can stand the test of life patiently and stand up to its blows. Did it happen to her brother? "It is also a sin to express displeasure with what God has done. The Creator does not show evil to his servant, there is a good thing that happened. There is also a fault in the girl who mourned for her brother. She is doing so well, she should not prove it in any way. First of all, she should die. , I am the only child in my family, the debt given to me, I need to save my life for my brothers who are not in this world. Who will my parents lean on when they get old, when they are still young, their face is wrinkled, their hair is white I am tired of them and I have to turn on the light in our house. He didn't do these things when he loved his grandson and wanted them to be happy. After all, there was nothing he could do to make my daughter get well, and he put his behavior in the cold as a measure of hope from a dead soul. But the darkness did not leave him. As soon as he came out of chilla, he tried to commit suicide again.

Nine months have passed since then. I was sleeping after throwing a stone. Someone shook him awake

- Tursunoy hanged herself again.³

In short, Tursunoy achieved her goal, but this was her biggest mistake in life. Only if she loves life and laughs at it. Life also opens its face to him. We should be grateful for every breath we take.
